DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 33-36, 39-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Hayakawa et al.(cited by applicant).

Hayakawa et al. in the article entitled: "Mechanism of Residue Formation in Silicon trench Etching Using a Bromine-Based Plasma", pages 5-9, discloses the formation of a conic body comprising: performing high selectivity anisotropic etching of a silicon substrate by using as a micro mask an impurity precipitation defect caused by a first impurity included in the substrate; and allowing a conic body to be exposed from a surface of the substrate, the conic body being form with the impurity precipitation defect located at its top (see Introduction section on page 5, third paragraph; figs. 8(a)-8(e) and related text on page 8, paragraph bridging two col.).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 42-52 are allowed.

Claims 37-38 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

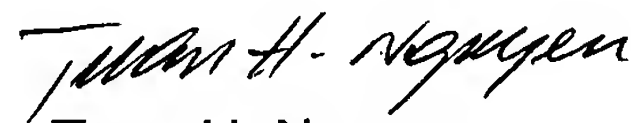

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Hayakawa et al. and references of record fail to teach or suggest the claimed method for forming a truncated conic body by using as a micro mask an impurity precipitation defect caused by a first impurity included in the substrate; or a conic body by using as a micro mask an impurity precipitation defect caused by a first and second impurities included in the substrate.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
